FIFTEEN CENTS

3 snowmobiles go through ice

By Sue Nasenbeny

Three snowmobiles crashed through an opening in the ice on Lake Catherine in two separate accidents Monday. The drivers were taken to Victory Memorial Hospital and lost their vehicles under the water.

An incident that occurred at 2:20 p.m. Monday, Ronald J. Hanson, 32, of Lake Villa, was driving his 1978 Kawasaki snowmobile southbound on Lake Catherine when he said he saw an opening in the ice. He tried to turn, but the snowmobile skidded and went through the ice and sank to the bottom. Hanson said he managed to keep his head above water as he crawled out of the ice and pulled himself to the side of the lake.

HE SAID RESIDENTS watching from a nearby home notified police, and the

Heath new head of Rescue Squad

AFTER 12 years of volunteer service as captain of the Antioch Rescue Squad, Jim Fields has retired his position.

Fields, who was elected Antioch township supervisor in 1977, made his announcement at the Rescue Squad's elections held Monday night.

He graciously retired to permit the newer and younger members to move into positions of authority, member Bruce Jablonski explained. "He still will be affiliated with the squad, but he has relinquished his position as captain. Jim has served about 15 years as a squad member."

AFTER FIELDS DECLINED his bid for re-election, the squad elected as the new captain David Heath, who had served as first lieutenant and has been with the squad for about a decade.

His term is for two years, as are all new posts.

Jablonski said Heath works with his father, Marvin, as a local contractor. Marvin was also a member of Antioch's Rescue Squad.

Charles Larson, the former second lieutenant, was elected as the squad's first lieutenant. The state trooper has also been

Gas stations hurting, Wisconsin is cheaper

The plight of some Antioch gasoline stations was the subject of a news report on Chicago television Monday night.

Channel 4 sent a reporter and camera man here to interview gas station owners who complained that motorists are driving into Wisconsin to buy their fuel in Salem township.

They are hurting, some Antioch businessmen say, because of the high taxes on gasoline here.

AT LEAST TWO have blamed the recent two percent Regional Transportation Authority gasoline tax imposed on Dec. 1 as a result, average gasoline prices in the area have jumped three cents a gallon.

Ronald Reagan Speaks Out On Employment Rate

Talk is plentiful in the Carter administration and among the Democratic majority on Capitol Hill about new spending programs to stimulate the economy and increase employment.

In terms of long-range drawbacks, the worst of these is the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill which might as well be called the Control the Economy from Washington Bill. It would give the federal government control over workers, businesses and industries similar to what we see in totalitarian states.

Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) has asked some questions about the assumptions underlying this idea of stimulation by government spending. He asks: Is there idle manpower due to insufficient spending? Are there idle production facilities and factories due to lack of spending? And will all those idle workers and machines come together and bring prosperity if the government starts building city halls, monuments and other unproductive projects?

The answer, of course, is that people suddenly employed in government projects can't also be employed in private business and industry to produce the goods and services that make up our standard of living.

There are some interesting figures that suggest that our seven per cent unemployment rate is more than a little inaccurate. It was based on a survey of the labor force of the unemployed people who were looking for jobs that didn't exist.

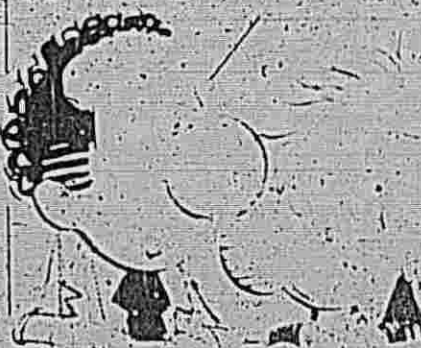

Today, more Americans are working than ever before—more than 90,500,000. This represents 42 per cent of the population, and that's a record too. Back in 1968, when unemployment was only half the rate it is today, only 59 per cent of the population worked.

As for the economy, which means business and industry, the government has been creating new jobs every month at the fastest rate in U.S. history and it has been doing it for more than two years.

Average prices in the area were: Regular, 69.1 cents a gallon; premium, 73.5 cents; and unleaded, 72.4 cents.

Price variations are wide-spread. In the six-county RTA area regular ranges from 69.9 to 75 cents a gallon, premium from 73.9 to 79.9 cents a gallon and unleaded from 69.9 to 72.3 cents.

Windows and Doors

Called Worst

Fuel Drainers

Windows and doors are the biggest fuel drainers in the average home, according to the National Home Improvement Council. And since 70 million living units use 20 per cent of all the energy consumed in the U.S., the homeowner holds a great deal of responsibility which he can use to save or lose money.

According to the Council, the University of Illinois has calculated that ten 15 square foot windows will leak about 100 more gallons worth of fuel oil per season if they are only single glazed. With a typical three by five foot single glazed double hung window, almost three times the energy would be lost through the window as is lost around the sash area. Storm doors help, too, because heat loss through or around the door is about the same.

One square foot of glass can lose as much heat as ten square feet of wall and another recent report by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) shows that almost 70 per cent of a typical single family's heating load is traceable to windows and doors.

For these reasons, few installations in the home pay off for themselves as quickly as storm doors and windows.

Illinois Bell wants to increase revenue

Illinois Bell has asked the Illinois Commerce Commission for a 9 percent increase in revenues to offset inflation caused cost increases in providing telephone service.

No increases are sought for most basic local calling rates or for any direct dialed long distance calls.

"We're making this request because our expenses for providing telephone service are rising and also because the commission didn't deal adequately with continuing inflation in its decision last May 25," said Illinois Bell's president, Charles Marshall.

The commission allowed increases of $8.9 million a year or the $110 million which the company requested in 1976.

While consumer goods and services, in general, have risen 8 percent in the past 10 years, telephone prices have risen on average of only 28 percent. "We aren't seeking increases in most basic local rates and haven't since 1974," Marshall said.

One of the major reasons telephone rates have remained a bargain is because the productivity of our people has improved at a rate more than twice the national average and we have introduced cost-saving technology, offsetting part of the effects of inflation," Marshall said.

ALTHOUGH ILLINOIS BELL is asking for a 9 percent revenue increase, a customer's bill won't necessarily increase by the same percentage. Since basic local monthly rates of most customers will not be increased, and haven't since 1974, most residence bills will go up less than 1 percent. Increases will depend on whether a customer used a lot of telephone service or chooses optional services and equipment.

The proposed changes include:

Higher charges for ordering and connecting phone service, which still will fall short of the company's actual costs for doing the work, Marshall said.

Increased rates to catch up with the rising costs of optional services such as extension phones, Touch-tone service and Princess and Trimline sets," Marshall said.

New charges for operator-assisted calls would cost more and others would cost less. Rates for direct dialed long distance calls won't change.

Most of the rate changes, totaling about $192 million statewide, involve services which the customer has the option of using.

SNO GAME TODAY It seems like only yesterday when fans sat in summer clothes and watched the action at Antioch's Little League park. After the New Year's snowfall, the only action at the baseball field was drifting white stuff. And did you notice one year sitting in the bleachers in his summer shorts?

work for all. All of this, however, inflates the unemployment figures by about two percentage points. So when the government says we have seven per cent unemployed, just say to yourself, it's more like five per cent.

But what about the additional cost to the taxpayers, and why does the federal government go along with this charade? It's simple. The rate of unemployment, at various levels, triggers a variety of federal spending programs which keep uncoupled numbers of bureaucrats employed.

Meanwhile, the Sunday papers are full of help wanted ads (the Los Angeles Times typically runs 65 pages), and the nation's largest employment agency says there are two million jobs in the U.S. going begging.

3 snowmobiles take plunge in Lake Catherine

Antioch Rescue Squad arrived within 10 minutes.

Rescue divers kept falling through the ice as they approached him. He explained, "It was a very shaky experience," Hanson said.

"I had a case of the chills, but fortunately had no frostbite," he added. He was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital by the rescue squad and then released.

HIS SNOWMOBILE, which is only two weeks old, is still on the bottom of the lake, Hanson said. "I would be, due to operate the vehicle once it is brought up, but the problem remains the same, how to get it out of there."

He added that he thought the lake was a bad area for snowmobiling and "should be flagged off. There were no warning signs whatsoever."

In a separate incident earlier that day, at 12:40 a.m., Lake County Sheriff's police reported that two snowmobiles crashed through a "smaller" opening in Lake Catherine.

Adolf J. Pillings of rural Antioch and Gary A. Mannheim, 33, of Chicago, were driving 1972 and 1974 Johnson snowmobiles when they went through the ice.

They were taken by the Antioch Rescue Squad to Victory Memorial Hospital for further exposure. Sheriff's police report of their vehicles must still be recovered.

TOO TRUE

How to make room for dining

Don't give up a dining room just because the floor plan of your home doesn't show one! According to the building industry, typical new private homes of today only have three quarters as much space as the homes that were built in 1970, and often it is the dining room that has disappeared.

On the bright side is the fact that there is specially scaled traditional furniture that can be used to create a dining room in a hallway, a foyer, or in a corner of the living room. These space savers and "junior" dining room groups are now styled as elegantly as formal dining rooms and they are also available at prices that fit most budgets.

Specialists in the scaled-down effect are SK Products who say there is no reason for the appearance of the "junior" dining room furniture to be detectably different; it's a matter of subtle styling for the tables, chairs, buffets and hutches. They avoid the very heavy look in legs and trestles and give a solid look through the deeply carved decoration rather than massive size.

Real key-to-convenience is the adaptability of the table. The drop-leaf table, for instance, was popular in America long before the Revolution. The reason was the same as today: few houses in colonial days had a separate dining room either tables with inset leaves appeared later to give the same kind of adaptability to a different style of table.

So whether it's in the living room, kitchen, hallway or foyer, dining can still be done in style.

Those of you continually should be proud of the Antioch Lions Club for delivering 10 baskets of groceries to needy families for Christmas.

The baskets included turkeys, fruits, vegetables, fruit bread and rolls—all the ingredients needed for a good Christmas dinner.

In charge of the project for the Lions were Rich Kotak, Dave Heath, Rod White and Bruce Ahlquist.

WE WERE HAPPY to see our good friend, Bob Wilton, on Main St. the other day.

Bob was a very outstanding and popular mayor of Antioch from 1973 to 1977. He has moved to Mundelein, you know, and we understand he is now in business in the Libertyville area.

We were sorry to see Wilton Electric Shop close on Main St. That was always a pleasant stop for us, especially to chat with Bob's dad about Antioch's good old days.

IT WAS AWESOMELY NICE of Jimmy Quendetold to clean out Jerry Pharris' driveway on New Year's Day when so many people were shoveling. Jerry asked us to mention that—and in his shop we certainly didn't want to see him shoveling.

We hope Barb Corbin is happy and successful in her new location on the corner of Lake and Victoria Streets. Corbin Travel Agency will be in the building being vacated by Mike Warren, who is moving his Century 21 Real Estate office to an attractive new spot at Main and Quail.

Speaking of businesses in the move, don't forget that the Antioch News has moved south again. Three years ago it was a block south—down 896 Main St. to 950 Main.

St. This block it's only one door south—down 952 Main St. The former Gambles store owned by Rudy Ebert.

I THINK the Antioch News is the oldest newspaper in Lake County.

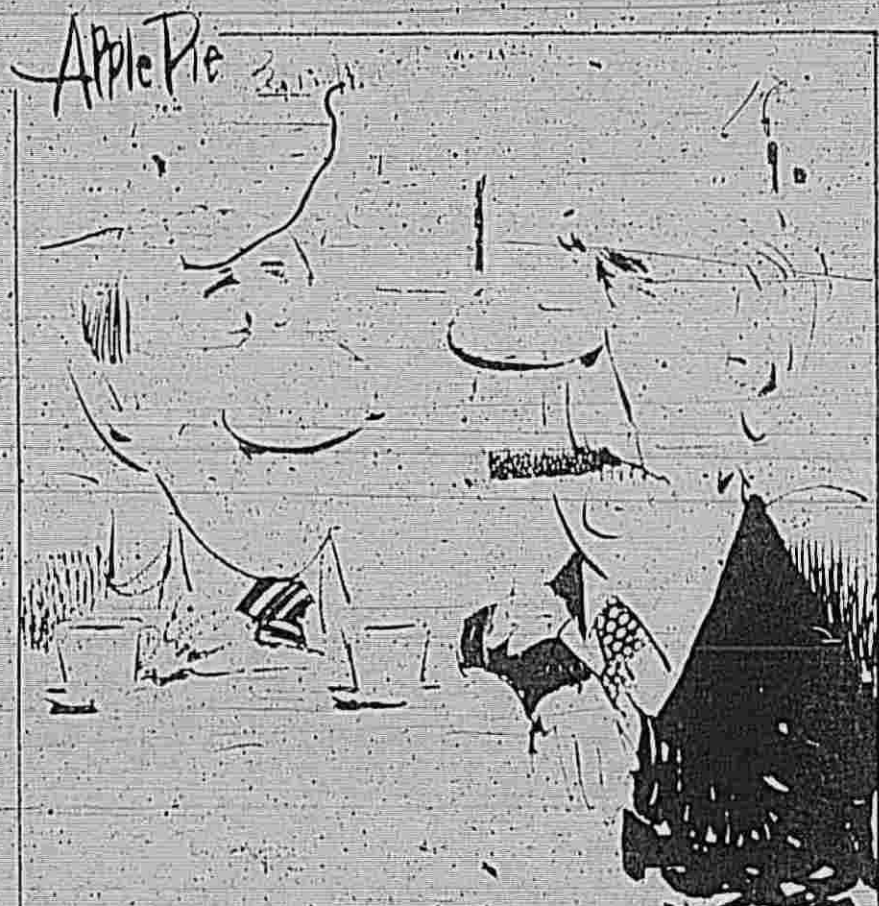

No, I wasn't here when it started, but the Antioch News was first published in 1886. So we're in our 92nd year.

On Dec. 31, the Waukegan News-Sun ran advertisements for many businesses in the county and mentioned the year they began. The News-Sun itself dates back to 1897.

The State Bank of Antioch was established in 1894.

Other businesses mentioned by the News-Sun in its New Year's Eve edition were:

Millburn Mutual Insurance Company of Lake Villa established in 1855; Intermatic Inc. of Spring Grove, 1891; Strang Funeral Home of Antioch, 1912; C. Haling & Sons, 1920; Thelen Sand & Gravel, 1924; Gan Oil Co., 1928; Huckers Chrysler Plymouth of Lake Villa, 1929; Pedersen Bros. Implement Co., 1937; Antioch Travel Agency, 1959; Gundlach Canvas Shop, 1960; and just last year, Chain-o-Lakes RV and Fisherman's Dream.

It's Funny! Last Year, This Time We Were All Sitting Around Wondering What Kind Of A President Carter Was Going To Be. This Year We're All Sitting Around Wondering What Kind Of A President Carter Is Going To Be.

A Little Bit About a Lot of Things

By JERRY PFARR

You will be happy to hear some of our New Year's resolutions.

For example, no more bad jokes like "Yesterday I went fishing, just for the halibut. And no more grumbling, or remarks such as 'I need another January like Custer needed another Indian'."

THE HUMANE SOCIETY will be happy to know that I have decided to become a "zoo parent" this year. We heard over WGN that people can adopt animals at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo. Your dollars can feed a dolphin or a polar bear for an entire year.

The problem is which animal to adopt. I'm not tall enough to feed a giraffe and not wealthy enough to feed an elephant. Besides, I pay my dues to the Republican Party to help feed their elephant.

MY FRIEND, PEKELSMIA, dropped in Tuesday to announce that he is making his annual post-holiday bon back.

He said the exact moment of inspiration isn't certain but maybe it happened when he caught a reflection in a store window and at first glance didn't recognize the pudgy-looking fellow who was dressed in his clothes.

At any rate, he came home with a $24.95 set of bar bells. "Oh, no!" gasped Pekelsmia's wife. "Is it that time of the year again?"

"You're not going to try lifting those weights," she added.

"Certainly am. In six months I'll be a new man. I have a book here that tells me just how to do it. Ha! No bulk, all kick sand in my face next summer."

"Of course, not," said his wife. "Because you aren't going to the beach next summer. For the same reason you can't go last summer—your suit doesn't fit."

"It will next year," Pekelsmia vowed, taking a deep breath and winking at himself in a mirror.

"Okay, okay," said his wife. "I'll call Olympic headquarters and tell them to order your suit. What size did you say you were going to be, chubby?"

Later in the evening a weak cry of "help" came from the basement.

Pekelsmia's daughter was closest to the stairs so she ran down.

"Daddy!" she said. "What are you doing under there?"

"I slipped and I'm pinned beneath this bar bell. I can't get up. Try to lift one end."

"I can't, Daddy. It's too heavy."

"Tell mother."

The little girl ran up the stairs and then hurried back.

Antioch wins wrestling title

The entire county wrestling society holds Antioch High School in lofty esteem.

Coach Ted DeRousse's Sequoias won the annual Lake County tournament last week.

For the first time the 6th annual event included all of the county's 18 high schools.

The Sequoias scored 134 points to edge Barrington by 10 points.

The tournament was tied 42-42 each for Antioch and Barrington going into the championship matches. Antioch met Barrington in the first two weight classes and these were the critical matches in the tournament.

Antioch's Dave Unrien lost a close 8-6 decision to Barrington's Mike Hull at 98 but Jon Gibson, up a weight class at 105, beat Barrington's Mike Steiner 6-4 to re-tie the tournament. Marvin Gibson's win at 119 over Waukegan East's Rick Allaro clinched the Sequoi's victory.

ANTIOCH HAD LIMITED success at the Glenbrook South tournament before Christmas, placing 8th in the 16-team tournament.

Antioch crowned one champion in Rich Packert, who won the Heavyweight title.

Jon Gibson placed third after suffering his first loss, a 4-3 decision in the semi-finals.

Marvin Gibson was third, losing a 2-1 referee's decision to the eventual champion, also in the semi-finals.

ANTIOCH PLACEWINNERS in the Lake County tournament were: 1st, Jon Gibson, 105; and Marvin Gibson, 119; 2nd, Dave Unrien, 98; Jim Fasnach, 132; and Rich Packert, 147; 5th, Gene Lohm, 155.

FRIDAY NIGHT ANTIOCH travels to Grant to face a traditional rival in a preview of the conference championship.

In two previous tournaments both teams have been very close to each other in points.

The meet promises to be one of the season's most exciting due to the many exciting matchups as well as the intense rivalry. The Grant fans have been intense in their anti Antioch cheering and have promised a full house in support of their Bulldogs, Coach DeRousse said.

The Freshmen and JV meet begins at 6:45 with thearsity and JV action set to start at about 8 p.m.

Frosh matmen win tournament over 7 rivals

Antioch High's wrestling team enjoyed a super Christmas vacation, as Coach Steve Wapon put it.

The frosh began celebrating the holidays with a first place finish in a tough Warren freshman invitational meet.

The Sequoias wrestled exceptionally well, Wapon said. "We had the luxury of eight men wrestling for first place in the championship finals."

ANTIOCH'S CHAMPIONS were Jeff Domkowski, 115 pounds; Scott Wolf, 155; and Ted Bessette, 167.

Placing second in their weight classes were Dan Larsen, Jeff Cancha, Mike Mercer and Bob Hubbard.

Antioch scored 144 points compared to 86 for second place North Chicago. Wheaton Central had 30 and was third in the eight-team field.

ANTIOCH'S EVER-IMPROVING sophomore team also brought home a third place trophy from last week's Grayslake Invitational.

Grant won with 233 points, followed by Grayslake with 146 and Antioch with 138. Five other teams trailed.

Ted Bessette won a title for Antioch at 155 pounds and three Sequoias placed second: Larsen at 105 pounds, Dave Mohar at 119 and John Domkowski at 145.

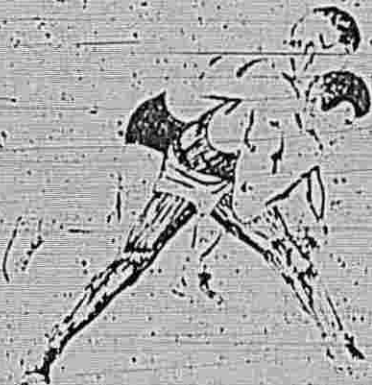

THE FRESHMEN BEGIN the second half of their season this Friday, 6:30 p.m., at Grant, the team that beat them in the Grayslake Invitational.

Grant's Bulldogs are undefeated.

Antioch's coaches, Wapon and Dan Mikal, said they're anticipating an exciting match.

"We have an improving team," Wapon said. "Our kids are really starting to put their moves together. And Grant has a super team, possibly the best freshman squad ever in this area."

Sequoits face 2 conference foes

It's back to the conference for Antioch High's basketball team this weekend.

Captain Roger Andrews' Sequoits will play Grant's Bulldogs here Friday night, 8 o'clock, following a sophomore preliminary.

Then, on Saturday at 8, the Sequoits travel to Stevenson where they will be tested by another tough team.

Stevenson's Patriots and Antioch are leading with 10 records in the North Division of the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Warren ranks third with a 7-1 record and Grant is fourth with a 1-2 standing. But Grant is the pushover. The Bulldogs lost by only one point to Warren, one of the league favorites. And they trimmed Round Rock, 44-37.

SAVANT HAS THREE good shooters. At the Miller, Stanton and Keith Roff's. Stanton is a three-point shooter. The Roffs, who prefer shooting from the three-point line, are Antioch's best shooters. They are 10-15 from the three-point line.

WE WILL BE READY TO GO TO THE MILLER, Andrews said. Coach Andrews' Sequoits are 10-0 in conference play. They are 10-0 in conference play. They are 10-0 in conference play.
